DREAM REALIZED — Area resident Tom Belsheim and St. Paul M.L.A. John Drobot reflect on the many years of planning which went into the newly opened Meridian Bridge, as they read the inscription on a commemorative cairn unveiled Friday, October 30, 1987 by the Hon. George McLeod, M.L.A. for the Meadow Lake Constituency, during the bridge opening ceremonies.

Long-awaited bridge link opened

A milestone in transportation history for those living near the Alberta-Saskatchewan border was reached Friday, with the official opening of the Meridian Bridge.

This long-awaited structure crosses the North Saskatchewan River on the provincial border, at the corner of four provincial constituencies: St. Paul and Lloydminster in Alberta, Meadow Lake and Lloydminster-Cut Knife in Saskatchewan, and will provide the only north-south access in a 50 km wide area between Lea Park Bridge on Secondary Highway 897 and the Highway 3 bridge near Paradise Hill, Saskatchewan. The crossing was previously served by one of the few remaining ferries in either province.

Plans for the bridge were made many years ago by those living in the area but never became reality until now. Tulliby Lake resident Tom Belsheim said that "A lot of times we were really discouraged" by the response of the provincial and federal governments to the request for a bridge. "We kept grinding away, and coming to dead ends."

Three sets of government were involved in the early negotiations, but finally "we dropped the federal government," Belsheim said. "It took a lot of doing, even then."

The Alberta government finally agreed to pay half of the cost of the bridge and Saskatchewan agreed to contribute the other half. Only then could the bridge become a reality.

Train, bus crash in disaster exercise

A loaded school bus, unable to stop on an icy winter road, slammed into a freight train at the Highway 41 crossing in Elk Point during the noon hour last Thursday.

Within minutes, police, ambulances and fire department had arrived on the scene, where one victim lay crumpled at the base of a power pole, another staggered to and fro in the ditch, clutching a bloodsoaked handkerchief and looking for a severed finger, and another, deeply shocked, slumped against the railway crossing lights. The driver sprawled over the steering wheel, while trapped passengers filled several seats and the aisle. Thick black smoke from burning debris floated over the area.

Approaching ambulances and the fire department rescue van, finding the crossing blocked, sent one attendant on foot to the scene, while they sped westward to 54 Street and around by Secondary 646 to the scene. One police vehicle and a Town of Elk Point truck hurried to block off the south access to all but emergency vehicles and to reroute traffic around the scene. The Town fire truck approached from the north, hooked up to a hydrant north of the crossing.

Ambulance personnel quickly assessed the condition of each victim, attaching red tags to the most seriously injured, yellow tags to the less serious and green to those with minor injuries. A cervical collar was put on the bus driver, who was then eased onto a solid wood spine board and carried to a waiting ambulance. Ambulatory injured were helped out of the bus and to the ambulances by some of the firemen, while others extinguished the burning debris and still others set up the compressor and hoisted the Jaws of Life into a bus window.

At the hospital a call for extra help went out as soon as word was received of the incoming casualties. Off-duty RNs, retired staff members and additional support staff hurried to the facility. The first ambulance arrived at 1:25 p.m., the last at 2:04 p.m. Some twenty minutes later, a hospital spokesperson released a count of 7 cases requiring resuscitation, 5 fractures, 3 burns, 3 minor injuries and two cases of hysteria.

Less than two hours from the time of the collision, members of nursing, medical and hospital support staffs, firemen, police, ambulance personnel, town of-officials and all 20 victims gathered in the hospital's cafeteria to discuss the outcome of Elk Point's first Disaster Services exercise in over 5 years.

Health Services and John McElroy, Medical Stores Officer, who supervised at the accident site, saw a need for a staging area to facilitate easier loading of ambulances. It was noted that none of the auxiliary vehicles for use as ambulances on the resource list had been available. Also, the arrival of the Town's casualty collecting unit stock of stretchers and blankets was delayed when the Superintendent was not notified of the need for some time.

Disaster Health Services Nurse Consultant Edith Hesson, who attended the exercise with her colleague Carolynne Ross, said that the object of the exercise was to "learn for the future" and to "learn your potential".

John Robinson, director of the exercise, noted that after the first ambulances had left, "8 major casualties were left with 2 ambulance personnel" to await the vehicles' return, due to the lack of auxiliary ambulances. He also suggested that the fire department and other emergency workers become familiar with the color coding system for casualties.

RCMP Cpl. Bruce Best, who was the first to arrive at the scene, reported no problems with crowd control, which is helpful to those dealing with an emergency of this sort.

Fred Lambright, owner of Elk Point and District Ambulance said "my crew did a good job", although he noted that he would normally have had the ambulances come to the north side of the tracks on the second run, if it were possible to carry the victims out between train cars.

Edith Hesson commented on the "good security" enforced by Ed Soldan and the "very efficient" way the RNs and medical staff were put in place. She also congratulated Bernie Kozicky and her team for their quick assessment of the incoming casualties.

Director of Nursing Diana Anderson thanked her staff for a "super job" and reported that everyone in the hospital communicated well.

Town Administrator Pat Vincent said the exercise had been a "valuable learning experience", and noted at least 13 areas needing improvement, from the number of volunteers to increased communications. He thanked the firemen and other volunteers and said he had "all the confidence in the world" that Elk Point could handle a similar real-life situation.

Mayor Byron Mann found the afternoon "very worthwhile", and said that everyone must realize what their job is, and "be ready to improvise".

A Relative Information Centre was set up, but "nobody showed up", said Wasy Elashchuk. A Care Centre for children of working staff was also opened and cared for two children.

Hospital Administrator Clem Johnson thanked all of his staff for taking part and made special mention of the planning efforts of Bernie Kozicky, who saw that "every little detail" was looked after.

Community grant funds delivered

By Irene Magnusson

MLA for St. Paul, Mr. John Drobot, was in the Town Office at Elk Point Tuesday, October 27, with good news for a number of organizations of the town.

On hand to accept the envelopes handed out were Allan Frankiw, Deputy Mayor, receiving a cheque for $148,120 from the Streets Assistance Program, for work done on the streets of Elk Point. Glenn Harms accepted for the Elk Point and District Agriculture Soci-ty, a cheque for $1,253.06, to cover costs of the annual Fair. From Community, Recreations and Cultural Grants, Elk Point Minor Ball Club received $812 for operations of the Club, accepted by Pat Vincent; Pioneer Circle received $4,500, accepted by President Mike Palinka toward expansion of the Seniors' Centre; while Allen Frankiw accepted on behalf of the Town, $9,312 toward costs of the Recreation Board.

Adele Mandryk, on behalf of the Elk Point Centennial Library, for purchases of resource materials and books, accepted $1,000. This is also for operations of the library.

Lastly, Frank Mayner, President of the Elk Point and District Historical Society, accepted an amount of $5,000, toward the Mural presently in progress, depicting the history of the area since the settlers came.

Mr. Drobot had a sunny day in which to spread his bit of "sunshine" around, and with his secretary Evelyn Kowtun, left immediately for a meeting in the city. The town and organizations were left with a few cents less than $170,000 in their coffers, which should bring a few smiles.

Ready to cope

Practice, it is said, makes perfect.

At least, it shows where the imperfections are, and gives those practicing a chance to improve upon their weaknesses.

Such was last week's disaster exercise.

Now we know that the fire engine hoses won't reach far across the tracks from the hydrant. We know you need traffic control to keep people from driving over the fire lines. We know we need more people with station wagons and vans on the list of auxiliary ambulance drivers. We know that emergency communications should be improved.

We also know a lot of positive things: that our emergency people have a speedy response time, that our firemen are adept at extricating accident victims, that people are willing and able to step in and help. We know that our am-balance service and our hospital are capable of handling multiple disaster victims with calm efficiency, and that they are ready to take on a challenge of this nature when the need arises.

It would be much more difficult to perform these duties in the dark of night at 40 degrees below, with a blizzard blowing and snow drifted high. It would be far worse if the burning debris were part of the bus, instead of in a trash barrel, and if the blood, broken bones and screams of agony were real.

But the job would get done. The volunteers and the professionals would face the needs of the situation with all possible speed and skill. They would get the job done, no matter how much effort and improvising it took.

We, like Town Administrator Pat Vincent, have "all the confidence in the world" that Elk Point is ready to cope with a disaster.

Not like choosing a camp cook

By Irene Magnusson

Many long years ago, when I was a big-eared brat, listening in to the elders' conversations, I heard my dad tell this story and I'm sure it's been told with multi-variations since the beginning of time, and will be told forevermore.

"There was this crew of cowboys, out on the range, gathering in the strays. The cook quit. The boss couldn't find another right off, so he appointed one man to cook, and if there were any complaints, he told them, the complainer could take over the job. The inexperienced cook soon tired of the job, and progressively stewed up worse and worse messes, half-baked, greasy and tasteless, hoping for a complaint, so he could hand the job over to someone else. One cowhand forked a mouthful of burnt-black, unsalted, foul-tasting fried potatoes into his face, gagged, spit and howled "Those are the worst tasting potatoes, they're horrible-but that's the way I like them!" And so the bum cook still had his job, making a mess, because no one else wanted the task.

(My wording, of course - dad's was more colorful).

And I am thinking about politics and politicians, and I wonder if we would get a better deal if they were chosen like the camp cook, where, if you didn't like what the politician was doing, you could take over his job.

To be a politician today, in our country, must mean to have a skin as thick as a rhinoceros, for no move they make, no word they speak, seems to evade the critic's tongue lashings.

In all the world you could not find enough money to pay me to take all the bashing and lashing and utter demolishing many of our public figures have to endure. I also think that is probably the main reason more women don't jump into politics, our sensibilities could not withstand the ugly batterings that go on.

Not only are their public actions criticized and sneered at, their personal appearance, their families, their every hiccup is frontpage grist, almost never lauded or applauded, almost always ridiculed and twisted and complained about. And here is where I think the old "camp cook" routine might smarten some people up a bit. Would you - who complain so freely - really like to have the Premier's job, or the Prime Minister's, or even Ronald Reagan's?

If I were raising kids today, I would tell them, as I did my own forty years ago - "Kid," I would say, "do not grow up to be a farmer." Then I would add, "Kid, especially, do NOT grow up to be a politician." And, of course, they would listen to me. Ha, ha.

Grant you, I think politicians have a much better chance of laying hands on sizable chunks of money than farmers have - or have ever had - still, money can't be everything. If it were, how come there are so many farmers still, when they go in the hole with everything they do, are everlastingly going broke, bankrupt, desperate? At least, they are not always publicly flailed for every move they make.

So we must conclude that farmers love the job, even without the financial rewards they all must hope for.

Do politicians love their jobs, too? Money or no money? Why ask. We'll never know the answer to that question. But since they DO take on the job, and they DO get the money, I suppose we are entitled to nag and jab and complain, safe in the knowledge that our complaints won't net us THEIR job, and always hoping we can prod them to do it better (meaning, OUR way).

To me it would appear that many politicians 'lose their marbles after being elected, transferring any common sense they may have had into the putty of 'party policy,' sheepishly following the same old trail laid down by the party, without considering new trails, new ideas, new ways. This country is in desperate need of great gobs of common sense.

Perhaps we give our politicians too many 'little jobs,' too many malls, balls, schools, pools - to officially open, too many hands to shake, too many miles to travel. It seems we expect our elected officials to turn up at every minor function, and where do they find all that time? Is it snatched from running our nation's business?

I, for one, do NOT know if it is better to have Free Trade or not - and I say, that is what we are paying our politicians to find out. And if Joe Clark says sanctions are the thing to do - well, I will take his word for it. He is the one who has been over there, who has talked to the other leaders, whom we elected and are paying to find out, to study, to talk and to decide.

And if some of the eternal critics had to take on the job, if they didn't like how he is doing it, maybe they would be saying "That's the way we like it!" too.

Observed in the Vermilion "Standard," 50 Years Ago, "under Good Old Days": "Elk's advertised their upcoming Halloween Dance in the Elk's Hall. Admission: Ladies - 25 cents, Gents - 50 cents. Dancing from 9:30 till 1:30." Speaking to Ron Barwick, he states he was one of the six-piece orchestra known as the "Orioles," which played for that dance. He recalls they were paid the princely sum of $4 each. Times do change, don't they?

Further Education Council hears speaker

By Irene Magnusson

June Morgan, guest speaker from Advanced Education, gave a detailed outline of the role of Further Ed in the province of Alberta since it's beginnings over a dozen years ago to an interested - and involved - group at the FCSS meeting room last Tuesday, Oct. 20. Some 17 members of the Elk Point and District Further Education Council followed closely, as Morgan outlined the working of this very worthwhile project.

She dealt with membership, the provincial government grant structure, how the whole concept came about, and where it is today. Thousands of adults have gained knowledge, which they can put to their use for gain or for pleasure, over the years, as those who "know how" offer their skills to those who "want to know."

Elk Point has been fortunate, in having an active, dynamic Further Ed Council, who have promoted programs over a wide variety of crafts, skills and fitness sessions in these past years of its existence.

Grants available to the Elk Point Further Ed programs now total around $14,000 annually, while a further Special Planning Grant is also available, of $1,500, if the need is shown. Senior Citizens are offered most courses free. Council members are representatives from local groups and organizations, as well as a number of interested citizens at large.

A nominating committee of three members selects persons willing to serve on the executive. These are nominated at the Annual (late winter) meeting. Council members indicate if they wish to serve in writing.

Present co-ordinator in Elk Point is Gail Kozicky, with assistant co-ordinator Gladys Drobot. Marie Zayac is district co-ordinator for Heinsburg area. Courses are set up according to demand or suggestions of Council.

Presently in progress are fall courses including Word Processing, several Aerobics courses, Fun and Fitness for Seniors, presently at Heritage Lodge and Buckingham House, and possibly the FCSS building. In Heinsburg Old Time Dancing and Quilting are on the board, while Spring Park is into Aerobics and Lindbergh plans Knitting classes. Other courses will be provided, if interest is shown, and at least eight persons are signed up.

Watch your local paper for coming courses, or check your Winter Courses leaflet mailed earlier. Courses proceed only after sufficient numbers have signed up. Chairperson Margaret Modin urges interested persons to register early.

Several 'housekeeping' problems were dealt with, chief of which is the painting of the Further Ed Classroom in the FCSS building. "It will be done," Modin stated.

A. C. A. reaches out to seniors

By Irene Magnusson

A small but enthusiastic group of interested persons set out on Monday, October 19, from Elk Point, to attend a 1:00 p.m. meeting of the Alberta Council on Aging (ACA). Marnie McCowan of Elk Point FCSS chautfeured one load, while others traveled in other cars.

Held in the Smoky Lake Seniors' Drop-In Centre, we were delighted to find a beautiful building, quite large, well-lighted and hung with paintings and other art works. Coffee was offered as we signed in. There were plenty of chairs and they were used, as about 120 seniors gathered to hear reports from their officials, and presentations from the ACA.

Minutes of the host group's meeting in Warspite were dealt with. Safe driving and driver training for seniors was stressed at this gathering.

Chris Lawrence, Assistant Executive Director for ACA, welcomed all. She outlined ACA's goals and urged support, stating that of 1600 seniors' groups in Alberta, 60 are active members of ACA. Many more would be welcomed.

David Eisenbarth, Volunteer Community Consultant Project Coordinator, is no "senior," but obviously interested in offering help to seniors' groups who have problems. Seniors Helping Seniors Consulting Service, he said, are senior volunteers who offer their consulting service, he said, are senior volunteers who offer their skills and knowledge to others about them who have needs. Mabel Dumont of Elk Point is one such person, and in a brief report, mentioned others in their area, such as Violet McFayden who gave generously of her time in preparing the seniors' survey conducted in the area last spring, results still pending.

Eisenbarth continued with an outline of the "Fully Alive" program, a 10 week course (one day per week) designed to help seniors get the most out of living, with pointers on the acceptance of the changes of aging, identification of problems, and self-care in physical and mental health.

He mentioned 1) self responsibility, 2) the wellness approach, and 3) a supportive environment, all of which help combat stress in physical, emotional, mental and spiritual areas.

Duncan Mitchell, Vice-President of Alberta Council on Aging, praised the networking concept as a method of people helping people, through sharing, dialogue and support.

At present, he indicated, seniors have local groups, ACA at a provincial level, and "One Voice," a parent body across Canada. A committee is working to achieve a "Regional" grouping of local seniors' groups, and active on this project is Sid Holthe of Elk Point.

Holthe then spoke. He pointed out how the northern half of the province could be divided loosely into regions, each comprising a number of local groups. The Lakeland and Red Deer areas are Pilot projects for this undertaking. We are fortunate to have Mr. Holthe taking a major role in promoting this effort.

With projectors, Denis Eisengarth illustrated a few points of the self-help programs. He stated there are now 2.5 million seniors in Canada; that we now normally spend one-third of our lives "retired". Some problems include the over-medication of seniors - one group surveyed averaged nineteen prescriptions per year! This indicates problems, some of which are being addressed by "One Voice," the Canada-Wide group.

The seniors present were urged to join the group, individual (at $10 per year), and as seniors' clubs (at $25 per year). Members receive a newsletter, filled with many useful items, news and reports of events pertaining to seniors.

The Smoky Lake Seniors Group Ladies offered a welcome coffee'n'snacks at the end of the session, following decision by those present to hold the next meeting at Elk Point, probably in January or February. Watch for notices.

A beautiful fall day shone over us, as we made our way home, the drive a pleasant break - and with new ideas churning in our minds, that perhaps the seniors of our land could help themselves to a more pleasant 'autumn' too.

Ukrainian Dance Club now in full swing

The Elk Point & District Ukrainian Dance Club is now in full swing for the season. Our dancers this year are instructed by Debbie Kachmar and Ken Rylance from Edmonton. Both instructors bring with them new and exciting ideas. The dancers are learning many dances from different regions of the Ukraine, both serious and comedy. There will also be some new and different costumes this year to make it more interesting for our dancers.

This summer the Ukrainian Dance Club had a float in the Canada Day parade. They also took part in the stage performance during the afternoon.

Two of our dancers, Tracy Oryshchuk and Linda Shmyr, attended Moose Lake Atlantis Ukrainian Dance classes this summer. They both enjoyed the experience and met many new friends.

The Ukrainian Dance Club dancers are interested in performing for any function in the coming year with due notice. Please contact any member of the club if interested. This will help enable our dancers to get prepared for the highlight of the year and that is the festival to celebrate Millennium in Edmonton, June 30, 1988, where 3000 dancers from across Alberta will be performing.

The Ukrainian Dance Club will be holding a Christmas Tea, Bazaar and Bake Sale on Saturday Dec. 12/87 with many traditional Ukrainian foods. Along with this we are taking a limited amount of advance orders for perogies. Anyone interested, place orders early as first come first served - phone Joyce Oryshchuk, 724-2416.

In Memoriam

SHYSHKA

In loving memory of my dear grandmother, Mrs. Julia Shyshka, who passed away November 10, 1985. You were always true and patient, Through the years you struggled on. And those hands that rest forever, Made a home that now is gone, You were the best. You who have a grandmother, Love her while you may, You'll never know her value, Till she's laid beneath the clay. Friends may think that I forget her, When at times I apt to smile, But they little know the heartache, That hides 'neath the surface all the while. "Too dearly loved to be forgotten, Today I miss you the most, always will, Love you the best." Sadly missed by Irene Bucharski

SHYSHKA

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Julia Shyshka, who passed away November 10, 1985. Today is the day God took you to his home, Two years have gone and the hurt is still with us. The home that you built is gone, You worked so hard to put the family together. Mom, we miss you more each day, You suffered so much. God put his arms out, And took you home with him. But mom, no matter what happens, We love you more than anyone will ever know. Sadly missed by Mike & Katie Bucharski and family.

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk

Have you filled out the questionnaire from the Agricultural Society? Your response is necessary for the organization to know how best to proceed with their activities in Clandonald. The arena floor is washed and ready for ice to be put in when the winter weather comes. On Monday, Nov. 30, the annual Agricultural Society meeting will be held, where everyone is urged to speak out in person.

Team Spooks Day, at the school, on Tuesday, showed talent that had been hidden by Clandonald students. At noon, twelve teams of five, ranging from Kindergarten to Junior High age in each team, created costumes from "nothing". In just twenty minutes, plastic garbage bags, toilet paper, foil, string, tape, coloured paper and newspaper turned the smaller members of the teams into space people, monsters, birds, totem poles, and other un-nameable Halloween creatures.

Anita Nichol, the Kindergarten teacher, had to call in Anne Brodwin and Sharon Convey to help her pick one out of the twelve winners. Jason Huxley, as the monster, and his team of creators (Angela Nelson, Donna Radesh, Jason Trach and Joanne Thomas) won candy apples.

Six Clandonald Junior High students will be attending the Young Authors Conference at J.R. Robson High School in Vermilion on Nov. 4. Two authors, one of whom is Martyn Godfrey, will be speaking to the students.

Grade 7 to 12 students were invited to write poetry, a short story, an essay, the beginning of a novel or the first act of a play. All the entries were judged, and the six students who entered from Clandonald were all chosen: Carolyn Thomas, Brant Martin, Jody Lawrence, Kim Rewuski, Diane Bardoel and Dawn De Giano.

The Young Authors Conference is part of the County of Vermilion River's celebration of the Children's Book Festival, which is sponsored by the Children's Book Centre and Alberta Literary Arts Foundation.

Wednesday evening, many friends of Sandy and Tony De Giano, and their family Dawn and Terry, met at the Clandonald Hall to say farewell. They have been a part of the Clandonald community for just over three years. Tony as Wheat Pool manager, and Sandy as Tupperware dealer, (an active member of "the Bingo Club"). They will be living between Red Deer and Delburne.

Karen Braithwaite was the Oct. 26 winner of the Agricultural Society lottery.

Over 40 customed Halloween people were at the Landonville Halloween party, accompanied by parents and grandparents in "civvies". There were games bobbing for apples, and refreshments then the costume parade. The judging was an impossible task, but six were picked; "headless" Shelly Moosomin; Rosalind Goldsmith, the Dragon; Tyson Warawa, a pirate; Alicia Anderson, a witch.

Jeremy "Miss Piggy" Rybchinsky and Dustan "E.T." Valleau, with honourable mention to "Arabian" Lois.

The three cakes being raffled were won by Adam Carter, Shirley Osinchuk and Lawrence Waltz. There were 451 jelly beans in the jar which Amanda Leaf won with a guess of 438.

The Fish and Game Turkey Shoot will be this Saturday, Nov. 7 in the Curling Rink from 1 till 8 p.m.

The Grand Opening of the Northern Veterinary Clinic in Dewberry will be on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 2 p.m.

The Lloydminster Constituency Progressive Conservative directors will be meeting on Thurs., Nov. 12, in Kitscoty. If you have any questions to

The weather held out for Saturday's "Trick or Treat" ing, and the first of November is still pleasant.

Whitney Lakes Park update

By Liz White

In order to keep everyone informed of govt. plans for Whitney Lakes Park, following is a re-print of a letter, dated 30 Sep. 87, to Bob Smith from Norm Weiss, Minister of Recreation & Parks.

I enjoyed being able to attend the public meeting on Whitney Lake and I was very impressed with the public turnout to discuss the issues surrounding the park. Some lengthy discussion has taken place in my Department over these issues and I would like to confirm to you my decisions and direction on these issues.

1. Camping at Whitney Lakes:

As outlined in our meeting, I have instructed my staff to make some improvements to the camping area previously used at this site and open the area for camping, hopefully by July 1, 1988. As a preliminary indication, the program for the area would include camping stalls, parking and some picnic tables for day use and beach use, a boat launch with parking for car/trailer combinations and a removable boat dock, and a parking area, trailhead and hiking trail to provide access to the backcountry areas for berry and mushroom picking. A trailer dumping facility is currently being developed for the entire park and its location will be suitable for both the Whitney Lake and Ross Lake users.

2. Rinse-Off Showers on Beach:

It is not possible to provide rinse-off showers without constructing a pressurized water system at Whitney Lake. As a system of this nature would be very expensive, it is not possible to consider this item at this time.

3. Chemical Control of Weeds and Swimmer's Itch:

The Department, as a natural resource management agency, generally does not like to apply chemicals to lakes unless the problem is so severe that it jeopardizes the functional operation of the park. As this does not appear to be the case at Whitney Lake at this point in time, we are not considering control measures for these two items.

4. Fish Stocking (Walleye):

I will request the Minister responsible for Fish and Wildlife to consider stocking Whitney Lake.

5. Concession Building:

I would be receptive to a privately operated mobile concession facility operating at Whitney Lake; however, my Department is not considering construction of a facility or provision of utility connections for a private concession.

6. Insurance Coverage for Red Cross Swimming Program:

I expect that, with the reopening of camping at Whitney Lake, the swimming lessons can again take place and I welcome the return of this program. The question of insurance coverage however, is a matter the Red Cross will have to deal with as my Department cannot be responsible for this item.

7. Equestrian Use:

My Department will evaluate the level of demand for this activity in the area and assess the suitability of the park resources to meet this demand.

8. Mechanized Recreation / Snowmobiling:

While I support the use of snowmobiles, the current policy and legislation does not allow this use in a provincial park. I hope that in the future, areas in the northeast region of Alberta may be developed for snowmobiling and mechanized recreation and I will work toward this goal.

9. Park Operations (Noise, Liquor, Vandalism, Enforcement and Public Relations):

I feel that the Department is on track with enforcement policies; however, I will emphasize the use of tact, restraint, good judgement and public relations by the front line staff. Parks' Rangers are often faced with difficult situations and it has been my experience that the majority of these incidents are handled very well.

I hope the above comments and commitments on the issues on Whitney Lake reflects the tone of the public meeting and I look forward to some progress on resolving the issues. Please feel free to contact me if you feel there are additional items that need dealing with.

The minister did not comment on stocking Walleye in Ross Lake or Laurier Lake; nor did he mention plans for opening the north end of Laurier Lake. Bob Smith will be contacting him again regarding those matters.
